

Distributor Resources: Informational Materials for Distribution Partners

Deep Pharma Intelligence (DPI) introduces our specialised suite of SaaS products, expertly designed for the complex needs of the Pharmaceutical, Biotech, and Healthcare industries. Developed through our extensive experience in market intelligence and strategic consulting, these products excel in providing detailed analytics, bespoke dashboard creation, and in-depth operational ecosystem mapping. Now, DPI is making these advanced solutions available as SaaS offerings, enabling clients to integrate them into their own branding and service portfolios.

We are actively seeking distribution partners to promote and sell our unique suite of products, offering a commission of 22% of the contract price. To aid our partners, DPI has prepared a comprehensive collection of resources, including thorough documentation, engagement assets, and crafted message templates, all available below.

This document serves as a valuable repository of information, supporting our partners in their business development endeavours with DPI.
